Quality Assurance/Software Testing Internship/Working Student (M/W)

19 January 2017

About Us

Pamono (www.pamono.com) is Europe's largest marketplace for unique furniture and accessories. Pamono brings together international dealers of vintage and contemporary furniture, lighting, and accessories, granting customers instant access to hard-to-find merchandise of the highest quality. With our international team, we want to continue to quickly grow and revolutionize the online design market.

Your Role

As a working student or intern, you would work in close collaboration with our development team and product manager to help us deliver the best experience to our customers and internal users. Do you have a passion for finding secret bugs and solving problems creatively and professionally? This is your unique chance!

- Define and design product-related test cases and scenarios based on requirements specifications
- Define and execute appropriate test cases on different test environments
- Evaluate and document test results, as well as get involved in the preparation of test protocols
- Take responsibility for your own tasks and projects in the area of quality assurance
- Ideally be involved in the preparation and implementation of automated software testing

Your Profile

- You have a qualification in an Information Technology-orientated field, or equivalent degree, and a strong understanding of internet-based software applications
- You have a high awareness of quality and an accurate, reliable, and near-pedantic approach to work
- You have strong analytical, conceptual and communication skills
- You ideally have some initial experience in software quality assurance
- You ideally have good working knowledge of the complete software development process
- Good English language skills required; German is a plus
