About Us

Pamono (www.pamono.com) is Europe's largest marketplace for unique furniture and accessories. Pamono brings together international dealers of vintage and contemporary furniture, lights, and accessories, granting customers instant access to hard-to-find merchandise of the highest quality. With our international team, we want to continue to quickly grow and revolutionize the online design market.

Your Role

- Translating SEO texts as well as designer and Manufacturer profiles from English to French
- Translating longer editorial texts published in our online magazine
- Being an integral part of the Content team and helping out with daily tasks as required

Your Profile

- You are a native French speaker (or speak native level French) with fluent English
- You are currently based in Berlin
- You have experience translating or transcreating product copy for websites and/or editorial texts
- You are meticulous in your work and love paying attention to small details
- You enjoy working as part of a close-knit team, helping each other to troubleshoot when needed
- You enjoy working to and exceeding targets
- You have a basic knowledge of design history/contemporary design or are eager to learn more about the subject
- You are available to start now

What We Offer

- An exciting, fast-paced work environment
- An international team with countless areas of expertise to work alongside
- The chance to work on a great product as it develops

Please send your CV, a short motivation letter, and earliest start date to rachel.miller@pamono.com. We look forward to hearing from you!
